The candidate profile you create serves as the ‘master copy’. Please start by completing your candidate profile before applying to a requisition (vacancy)

When you apply to a requisition, a copy of your candidate profile is created automatically and you will be able to modify it to be job-specific. Updating/modifying your profile during the application process for a requisition does not change the version submitted when applying to other requisitions. However, if you modify or delete any attachment, this will be reflected in all job applications and in the ‘master copy’ of your candidate profile

You can update any application already submitted for a job before the deadline of the requisition. After the deadline, the requisition is closed and you will not be able to apply, nor update any application submitted, nor attach any additional files (cover letters etc) to your application.
